

Little Episodes....

Press Release

25 July 2011

Little Episodes* launch in Brighton

Little Episodes, is launching, LE for Brightonians, at The Albert, Trafalgar St, Brighton, on 2 Sept 2011.

During the launch of Little Episodes, there will be performances from former Libertines front man Carl Barât, Fin Kemp and band, poetry from Lucie Barat and Sadie Frost, as well as local talent; The Restless List.

Little Episodes, the artist's collective that believes all talent is equal regardless of commercial success, will also have a book stall selling works from their members, art and facial frolicks courtesy of The Modern Beardsmiths.

Lucie Barât, founder of Little Episodes, said: "These days, the artistic and entertainment industries can generate seriously big money. While this may be palatable enough for the lucky few that get picked to 'succeed', it is alienating and depressing for the hoards of equally talented creatives lost in a sea of penniless artists."

Beri Allen-Miller, one of the youngest Little Episodes members, said: "I really enjoy being a part of the Little Episodes community. It's great to be able to read other peoples writing, look at their artwork and potentially publish my own works with LE. The events are always fun as you get to meet the great artists you see/read/hear on the website."

The event starts at 7pm and you can purchase tickets, copies of Little Episodes anthologies and find out more about Little Episodes or become a member at <http://www.littleepisodes.org>
